Point of Discovery Music Program Directed by Megan Lawrence

Music at the Point of Discovery Music Program takes many forms. This includes traditional band and orchestra as well as engaging music experiences. Students experiment with bucket drums, ukuleles, keyboards, invented instruments and composition.

"...(Point of Discovery Music Program) teaches (students) to strive for something bigger than themselves. It allows them to connect to different cultures and periods of history. It teaches perseverance, a sense of community, and the benefits of teamwork."

- Megan Lawrence, Director

"Megan Lawrence has built this program from the ground up. She offers a wide range of instrumental options so every student can find an instrument they enjoy. She appreciates the art of education and entertainment to engage more students in music."
